

Re-facing... Good for you and for the environment

If the cabinets in your kitchen are made of solid wood and are in good shape, then consider re-facing your kitchen cabinets. It's a fact that the doors, drawer fronts, and hardware on your kitchen cabinets wear out faster than your cabinets due to the heavy usage. The great thing about this is that you can upgrade your kitchen cabinets quickly, easily and affordably by simply re-facing your kitchen cabinets and installing replacement cabinet doors.

Kitchen cabinet re-facing is a popular alternative to full-scale home kitchen remodeling. It costs approximately 50% less than installing new kitchen cabinets. Plus, the improvements to your kitchen can increase the value of your home, easily making your small investment in cabinet re-facing worthwhile.

All of our financing is handled by Advanced Discount Mortgage Group (ADMG), located in Allentown, Pennsylvania.

Don't be fooled by those other re-facing companies who use "foils" or paper based products instead of wood products. Bill Stofanak Kitchen Facings uses only the finest wood products.

Good for you because it is far less expensive than new cabinets.

Good for the environment because it uses your existing cabinets rather than cutting down trees to build new cabinets.

If you have a choice, doesn't it make sense to save money and do something that you can feel good about...
